Hines' Sight

This past week several of us were ready to go on the South Alabama Mission Trip. Some of us had already picked out our clothes and snacks for the trip, prepared to teach a class or help someone understand the gospel. Then, the tropical storm happened, causing flooding, potential flooding and the cancellation of our trip. Fortunately we have been able to reschedule and all of the planning and preparing will not be fruitless. On the other hand, what if we didn't get to reschedule? Would the preparation have been fruitless or could we have used it elsewhere? What if there was no mission trip at all, would any of us still have prepared to teach or help others understand the gospel? We never know if a mission trip will be cancelled or who (or when) we might have the opportunity to teach or share the gospel. The Bible says in James 4:13-14- "Come now, you who say, 'Today or tomorrow we will go into such and such a town and spend a year there and trade and make a profit' — yet you do not know what tomorrow will bring. What is your life? For you are a mist that appears for a little time and then vanishes."

We never know when a mission trip will happen or if an opportunity that presents itself will ever do so again. We do know we don't have much time and it's never fruitless to prepare to do God's work for when the opportunities are there. The Bible says as much in 1 Cor. 15:58- "Therefore, my beloved brothers, be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, knowing that in the Lord your labor is not in vain."

So each of us must ask ourselves, am I prepared to do the work of the Lord whenever I am able? Storms may delay us and time may be short, but we are called to be the workers of the Lord no matter what!
